

Employment & Training Programs will gradually reopen offices tentatively beginning March 1, 2022. Our employment, settlement, language and skills training services for job seekers, newcomer women, employers and community partners will continue to offer online services by connecting with clients over the phone, via email or on Zoom. Please check the Employment and Training page for more information.

Participants seeking in-person services from all Employment & Training programs will need proof of full vaccination with a COVID-19 vaccine series.

To ensure all of our participants have access to our programs, we will continue to provide remote services by connecting with clients over the phone, via email or on Zoom. Please check specific program pages for more information.

Everyone's Health & Safety is a Priority at YWCA Toronto

- To help reduce the spread of COVID-19 and ensure the safety and well-being of our employees, volunteers, students, participants and the communities we serve, YWCA Toronto is implementing a policy that requires all new and current on-site employees, volunteers, and students to be fully vaccinated with a COVID-19 vaccine series. See our policy here. (link to policy)
- All participants seeking in-person services from programs in the Employment and Training Department will be asked for proof of full vaccination status. This new measure will be in addition to existing safety measures including screening prior to entry, physical distancing, indoor capacity limits, and the use of personal protective equipment (PPE).
- Any cases where participants cannot be vaccinated due to grounds protected by the Ontario Human Rights Act (such as medical reasons) will be reviewed on a case-by-case basis. Accommodations for clients will include continued remote service delivery via phone or online.
